Great article, Ethan. I've enjoyed watching this topic of yours progress over time and this article is another nice improvement on the approach.
I've been wondering though: do you think the resolution-based media query is a forward-looking solution? How can it scale to support higher resolution phones like the Nexus One (or perhaps even the next iPhone)? When handheld resolutions start to blur with screen resolutions, will device max-width be relevant for delivering finger friendly layouts?

Great article, Ethan.
I just wanted to point out what I think is a small error in the article. When you talk about adding a query for larger screen sizes, your code reads (min-width: 1300px)... however, the caption for the example img reads, "By specifying a wider max-width..."
Does't you mean to say "...wider min-width" in the caption?
